

Hot Melt Adhesive

Hot melt adhesives withstand very high temperatures (up to 130°C), they are particularly suited to fastening cables and other elements to fabrics, textiles or other plastic surfaces.

They achieve maximum strength in seconds and even bond PVC or PP securely with the substrate.

A variety of hot melt adhesives is available, including reactive types for virtually instantaneous bonding and structural strength.

